Blood Donation Benefits

One single donation can be split into three separate parts, helping save or improve the lives of patients. Just three teaspoons of blood can save the life of a premature baby. If you donate blood, you can help in saving lives of many patients.

Thousands of patients need blood transfusion as in the following conditions:

- Patients suffering from haemorrhage due to casualties
- surgical procedures and labours
- Haemophilic patients
- Chronic Anaemia
- Malignancy Thalassaemic patients
- Bone Marrow transplantation
- Neonatal jaundice and others

Blood donation is not hazardous and it proves to be a healthy habit that helps blood renewal. The volume of blood donation is 370:400 ml, almost 7.5% of the adult blood volume. It is compensated in a short period of time.

ORGAN DONATION

Place : Government Middle School, Agaramthen

Time : 3.00 pm

Chief guest : Dr. R. ????, Sri Sairam Ayurveda Medical College

Living donation

Living donation offers another choice for transplant candidates, and it saves two lives: the recipient and the next one on the deceased organ waiting list. Even better, kidney and liver patients who are able to receive a living donor transplant can receive the best quality organ much sooner, often in less than a year.

Deceased donation

Deceased organ, eye or tissue donation is the process of giving an organ (or a part of an organ), eye, or tissue at the time of the donor's death, for the purpose of transplantation to another person. At the end of your life, you can give life to others.

Vascularized Composite Allografts (VCA)

Vascularized Composite Allografts (VCAs) involve the transplantation of multiple structures that may include skin, bone, muscles, blood vessels, nerves and connective tissue. The most commonly known type of VCAs are for hand and face transplants.

Pediatric donation

Pediatric transplants differ slightly from other organ donations — as organ size is critical to a successful transplant, children often respond better to child-sized organs. There are currently 2,000 children under the age of 18 waiting for a variety of organs, and nearly 25% of them are under 5 years old.
