Pink Eye

Our Chief Speaker Dr.M. Latharani & Dr. V. Indumathy Professor in Sri Sairam Siddha Medical Collage. People often call conjunctivitis “pink eye” because it can cause the white of the eye to take on a pink or red color. Symptoms of pink eye can vary but typically include redness or swelling of the white of the eye. Causes. Most of the time, pink eye is caused by an infection — a virus or bacteria. Viral pink eye is the most common type. Pink eye that's caused by an infection can spread very easily, so avoid passing it to others by washing your hands often and not sharing items like pillowcases, towels, or makeup. Treating conjunctivitis has three main goals: Increase patient comfort. Reduce or lessen the course of the infection or inflammation. Prevent the spread of the infection in contagious forms of conjunctivitis. The appropriate treatment for conjunctivitis depends on its cause.

Disaster management

Disaster management is a process of effectively preparing for and responding to disasters. It involves strategically organizing resources to lessen the harm that disasters cause. It also involves a systematic approach to managing the responsibilities of disaster prevention, preparedness, response, and recovery. The ethical principles applied during disasters: (i) Humanitarian assistance; (ii) Information and participation during disasters; (iii) Compulsory evacuation of populations; (iv) Respect of dignity; (v) Respect of persons; (vi) Emergency assistance for the most vulnerable persons; (vii) The importance of rescue. Raising awareness about potential hazards and how to address them. Educating the public about how to properly prepare for different types of disaster. Installing and strengthening prediction and warning systems. In a disaster, you face the danger of death or physical injury. You may also lose your home, possessions, and community. Such stressors place you at risk for emotional and physical health problems. Stress reactions after a disaster look very much like the common reactions seen after any type of trauma
